

B/C ALL-STARS

America's No. 1 Basketball Camp

B/C All-Stars, entering its seventh year as the nation's foremost girls summer basketball camp, provides the ultimate in instruction, competition and exposure. Says Doug Hoselton, Head Women's Coach at the University of New Mexico, "B/C All-Stars is recognized by most coaches around the country as the premier competition camp available. If a player feels she is ready to compete against the best, B/C is the place to be." We call it "Saturation Basketball" — where the finest high school players across America congregate. Last summer the best from 42 states participated in our three girls sessions, which featured an incredible 17 Parade Magazine 1984-85 All-Americans! This summer will be a star-studded repeat. Here's our 1985 schedule: June 16-21 in Rensselaer, Indiana . . . June 23-28 in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania . . . July 14-19 in Milledgeville, Georgia.

SPEAKERS

- ☆ The biggest names in women's basketball have served as lecturers at our B/C All-Stars Camp and Clinic. In fact, our inaugural September 1983 B/C Clinic introduced an all-time first: appearances by all four 1983 Final Four women's coaches! Here are just a few of our headliners:
- Nancy Lieberman: Only two-time Wade Trophy winner who led Old Dominion to back-to-back national titles in 1979-80.
- Carol Blazejowski: Winner of the initial 1978 Wade Trophy and a three-time All-American at Montclair State as well as pro star.
- Joe Dean: National Promotion Director for Converse who's a dynamic motivational speaker and TVS color commentator.
- Linda Sharp: Coached Southern California to the 1983 & 1984 national championships behind Player of the Year Cheryl Miller.
- Pat Head Summitt: Coached the United States to 1979-80 Olympic gold after advancing Tennessee to the 1983 national finals.
- Leon Barmore: Coach of tradition-laden Louisiana Tech, sparking the Lady Techsters to national championships in 1981 & 1982.
- Marianne Stanley: Coached Old Dominion to 1979-80-85 national titles enroute to 88.3% winning success — No. 1 in U.S.
- Andy Landers: Coached Georgia to two straight Final Four appearances while residing atop the heralded SEC throne.
- Jody Conradt: Coach of powerful Texas, guiding the Longhorns to two straight AP regular-season No. 1 national rankings.
- Lynn Norenberg: Assistant Executive Director of ABA-USA who was Phi Beta Kappa (& No. 1 all-time player) at William & Mary.
- Mimi Griffin: Promotions Specialist for Converse and a former star player and coach who also serves as a TV color commentator.
